DEVELOPMENT

MUCH DEVELOPMENT NEAR CASA GRANDE

Canals Are Nearly Finished and Many Wells Are Being Sunk in This District of Arizona

Tucson, Ariz., Sept. 26.—The activity which has marked development in the Casa Grande district in the past 18 months continues greater than ever. Archie Ryan, canonman, has finished sinking a well 132 feet. The water rose to within 55 feet of the surface. A pump was installed and the yield is 1000 gallons a minute. The draw-down on a test was nine feet. Ryan, encouraged by the flow, has ordered a pump to throw 1200 to 1400 gallons per minute.

Engineer Stafford reports that splendid progress is being made on the canal now being constructed by the Casa Grande Valley Water Users' association. The caterpillar engine, which draws the excavators, has averaged more than 1200 cubic yards of earth per day for the past month, at a cost of 2 1/4 cents per yard. This includes 15 percent charge on the investment and depreciation.

J. F. Brown, president of the association, has been appointed a committee of one to attend to the matter of securing prison labor and to arrange for getting the convicts out on the work. This is under the new prison farm law. The state will receive water for prison farm land in exchange for labor on the canal. Brown, while state senator, got this bill through the legislature.

Up to the present time 11 miles of the canal have been opened up, six and a half miles have been fully completed, and the remaining half mile has been more than half finished. The engineering camp is now within half a mile of Florence. The excavator is traveling about 18 miles per day. Several teams are at work finishing the canal as the excavator leaves.

Dr. W. M. Bell, of Phoenix, has secured a fine tract of land about five miles from town near the foot of the Casa Grande mountain. He has a contract for a well and will begin to improve the place at once.

Luther G. Wilson has a claim on which he has sunk a well 41 feet and has 14 feet of water. He is delivering 1000 gallons of water per minute with apparently no draw-down. He has 30 acres of land. Boyce, who has 320 acres of land, is considering putting down four eight inch wells and dividing the land into 80 acre tracts. He says that at least 11 people from his former home, Long Beach, Calif., contemplate locating in the valley.

H. W. Charlesworth has developed water at 48 feet on his ranch, but is sinking deeper into the coarse gravel for the best results. He has 30 acres of black soil and 80 acres of sandy loam.

J. A. Berry, wife and son have taken up 960 acres near Toltec, which holding 320 acres. There are to be three wells on the land, two of which are already down. They have 25 inch water and splendid flows of water have been obtained. Berry has 240 acres cleared and stumped, and 190 acres of alfalfa. Berry and his son are well drilling contractors. They have established a nice home.

H. R. Smith, who developed one of the first big wells in the valley, has a 16 inch pump which delivers 1500 gallons per minute. He has improved his place.

WORK IS RUSHED ON TUCSON STATION

Effort Made to Complete Southwestern Structure This Week. Other New Buildings Being Completed

Tucson, Ariz., Sept. 26.—Work was rushed day and night on the passenger station of the El Paso & Southwestern in an effort to finish it by Thursday of this week. Finishers, painters and decorators swarmed all over the place. It will be one of the beauty spots of Arizona. The station building, which is in the mission style of architecture, is surrounded by a large park, with numerous driveways and walks outlined by ornamental light standards. The park is in reality a landscape garden, and has been brought into being by Cammille Fendi Franceschi, landscape gardener for the E. P. & S. W.

The new Schrader store and hotel building on West Congress street, near the El Paso & Southwestern station, is nearing completion. It is a very handsome building. The Foster hotel, on Broadway, also a concrete building, is nearing completion.

The mess hall and kitchen at the University of Arizona have been extensively remodeled in the past few months, the work being completed just before the opening of the university year. One of the innovations is a system of pipes and urns, whereby the diner can sit at the table and draw sugar, chocolate and hot water or coffee, milk, tea or ice water just by pressing a button or turning a spigot.

GLENDALE TO BUILD NEW PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Votes $25,000 for the Purpose of Erecting New Institution on the Cotton System

Glendale, Ariz., Sept. 26.—The Glendale public school district has voted $25,000 worth of bonds and the proceeds will be expended in the next year. Already $10,000 worth of the bonds, which run 20 years and bear five percent interest, have been sold to the Valley Bank of Phoenix. This money will be used in purchasing a 20 acre site for the school. The remaining bonds will be sold in about a month and the proceeds will be devoted to the construction of six school buildings. It having been decided to conduct the institution on the cotton plan.

All the new buildings will be completed before the first of the year. At that time an agricultural department will be added. Plans are also being made to add agriculture to the course at the Glendale high school.
